

Questions to Ask Your Doctor When You're Told You Have Lung Cancer

	What kind of lung cancer do I have?
	Where exactly is the cancer? Has it spread beyond where it started?
	What is the stage of my cancer, and what does tha mean in my case?	t
	Will I need any other tests before we can decide or treatment?	n
	Should my blood or tumor tissue be sent for biomarker testing?
	Has the cancer been checked for gene changes that could help you choose my treatment options?	t
	Do I need to see any other doctors or health professionals?
	If I'm concerned about the costs and insurance coverage for my diagnosis and treatment, who can help me?
	Can you explain my pathology report or laboratory test results to me? Do I need a second opinion on r pathology report?
	What mutations or biomarkers does my tumor hav What does this imply?	/e?
	Do my family members have a higher risk of nonsmall cell lung cancer?
0000.N.47876	Who can I talk to about the coordination of my car	e?
õ

My Notes

Last Reviewed 6.2.22